

ROADTREK CYBERRALLY

John Roy
Moderator
4/8/14

What Is It?

- A forum to communicate with other Roadtrek members
- A great way to obtain help from others that know the answers
- You post messages with questions or information for other members
- All CyberRally members will receive the posting

WHAT CAN I POST?

- Operating Procedures can be found at <http://www.roadtrekchapter.org>
- In general you can post anything related to Roadtreks and Roadtrekking
- Includes, but not limited to, driving, parking, navigation, cooking, camping, communications; storage, entertainment modes, travel routings, destinations, places to stay, modifications, accessories, problems, etc.
- Share lifestyles, including activities that enhance motorhome use.

HOW DO I JOIN?

- Your FMCA and Roadtrek International dues must be current
- Send an email to the moderators requesting membership
moderators@roadtrekchapter.org
- A moderator will subscribe you and you will be sent instructions and a unique access password

CYBERRALLY MANAGEMENT

- The CyberRally is managed by Chapter volunteers
- Moderator Team –
 - Seamon, Hank - hseamon@hseamon.com (Sys Admin)
 - Roy, John – johnroy1@comcast.net
 - Craw, Joan - jhcraw@aol.com
 - Womack, Dennis - drwomack@bellsouth.net

NOTE:

Dennis is the Roadtrek International webmaster

Hank is the webmaster backup

MODERATORS

- Enroll members, post general messages and manage database
- Monitor message content to ensure topics stay on track and help members
- Provide CyberRally technical support
- Privately interface with and moderate any member not adhering to the CyberRally Operating Procedure.
- NOTE: The moderators DO NOT read any CyberRally email before it is posted unless a member has been put on Moderation. This typically happens when a member's email has been hacked and is posting Spam

HOW DO I RECEIVE EMAIL?

- Messages will be delivered in either REGULAR or DIGEST format
- You decide upon the format desired
 - REGULAR : Standard email when it's posted it will be sent to you
 - DIGEST : Messages are combined into one email such that, at most, you will receive only one email per day.

HOW DO I POST & REPLY TO MESSAGES?

- You send a standard email to cyberrally@roadtrekchapter.org
- You respond to messages by doing a REPLY and providing your response
 - Response should always include the CyberRally unless it is of personal nature
 - Delete any message content not directly related to the question and answer.
- Responding to a DIGEST message requires more effort to eliminate non related content

Digest Responses

- Special attention must be given to any responses to Digest Email
- Several messages will be included in each digest
- You must change the subject line to reflect what you are responding to
- You must delete all non relevant responses

CYBERRALLY OPTIONS

- Members can control START/STOP & REGULAR/DIGEST modes themselves
- Instructions are sent to members when registering
- Moderators can perform task for members when requested.
This is the members easiest method.

CYBERRALLY ETIQUETTE

- Non-Roadtrek-related products and/or services shall not be advertised
- Roadtrek-related products or services may be advertised
- Political views, causes, or campaigns may not be posted.
- Postings should include
 - A subject that reflects the (main) content.
 - Your name, city, state/province, make, model and year of your Roadtrek.
- Be polite to your fellow Roadtrek International members

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES

- All CyberRally email is processed into ASCII format to prevent any virus transmission
- Postings can contain hyperlinks and some HTML but graphics or attachments will be stripped off

2 [\[CyberRally\] Front Battery and Back Battery interaction](#) -- rank: 995

Pat Front (engine) battery gauge went down when you turned the switch ON because the engine alternator is now charging the rear (coach) battery. When you switch the house battery ON, a solenoid energizes to supply power to the coach ... you have a dead, weak (low charge), or bad (coach) battery, you cannot switch the solenoid OFF. The solenoid takes juice to switch positions. Sounds like coach battery was dead, from no idiot lights. When you started the genset, the front (engine) battery gauge went back up because the genset is now ...

1 [\[CyberRally\] SAVING BATTERY: USING BATTERY LED LIGHTING](#) -- rank: 1000

A recent Cyberrally post mentioned the concern of having only a 15 amp AC power supply. That's why we use battery LEDs in certain locations eliminates drain on the RV battery, a big advantage when dry camping. Many Trekers use lots of LED, but I wonder if any use battery LEDs. Several battery LED puck lights are fastened to under our kitchen cabinets and are fine for washing dishes, or brushing teeth, etc. One of them has a high and low setting. The batteries last for at least one camping se ...

1 [\[CyberRally\] HELP](#) -- rank: 1000

Ann, I experienced two Macerator NOT WORKING problems within a month. The first was a bad macerator and the second was a poor ground wire, on or going to, the macerator. The ground wire problem was not related to the repair but appears to be a problem with some RTs. You could also have a bad push button switch but more than likely it's something that will need repair. Be ready with your wallet because it's not cheap. One other thing that I did to isolate the problem further was to crawl under th ...

I'm surprised you are finding decent Internet. We traveled for 3 months this spring and almost every campground had their Internet overloaded. We had problems just getting email. We arrived at Branson a week early and Internet was decent but as the campground filled up and the traffic increased it

301 [\[Cyberrally2\] Run down battery - Headlights left on](#) -- rank: 1000

Hi Hank That depends on the position of the "pull out" dashboard knob. I can't test that right now either as we are in winter storage. That's how we could enjoy our skate today. The headlights do go off when you apply the foot/emerg brake. If you are in the parking light mode you should still have parking lights cheers Roy ----- Original Message ----- From: "Hseamon1" <hseamon1 at earthlink.net> To: "ROY AND MARIANNE WOOD" <wood at storm.ca>; <cyber ...

302 [\[Cyberrally2\] Run down battery - Headlights left on](#) -- rank: 1000

Hi all There is a switch in the foot/emergency brake assembly that turns the headlights off when you set the foot/emergency brake. If you just leave the RT in "Park" and get out it will not work. However if you set the foot/emergency brake as well it will turn your headlights off. Glad to hear it is warming up down south. Marianne and I had a delightful 10km skate today on Ottawa's famous Rideau Canal Skateway Cheers Roy Wood 1999 D 190P Ottawa Ontario "Nearly 800 sleeps aboard

1 [\[CyberRally\] John Roy Mice & lifeboat soap](#) -- rank: 1000

Kenny, I just double checked my supply and it is Irish Spring soap not Lifebouy. Sorry about that. I bought a multipack a few years ago because I also use them to keep the deer away from our flowers. I use a fish scaler to make small flakes over the flower beds. I do this every week or two depending how much rain we have. In the camper I put chunks of the soap in key locations. How effective the soap has been is mixed. With respect to the deer, my neighbor feeds them so before I started using th ...
